"EDUCATION EXCHANGES' BETWEEN INDIA AND CHINA

Education Ministers of both India and China recently held talks to discuss about possible Education Exchange between the two countries. Discussion was also held on exploring the possibility of signing an agreement on mutual recognition of qualifications as well as promoting greater student exchange. Currently, more than 23000 Indian students are studying in China while the number of Chinese students studying in India is a modest 300. Among the Indian students in China, more than 21000 Indian students are enrolled in medical courses but grapple with problems like lack of quality education and misinformation. Source: Hindustan Times

NEW EDUCATION POLICY ON MANIFESTATION OF LEARNING

Innovator, entrepreneur and trailblazer in educational innovation, Ritesh Rawal has recently introduced his education philosophy, 'Manifestism', which focuses on manifestation of learning. According to this philosophy, the circle of learning will not be considered complete if there is no manifestation. Rawal also believes that the learning environment and learning space is as important as the teacher and the curriculum. According to Rawal, there is no one size-fits-all rule for an educational space. But we still restrict ourselves in creating the same environment everywhere. The answer to that is 'Spironment', which has real-time infrastructure where students can physically work inside the manufacturing as well as service industries. And to ensure productive learning in such an environment, Rawal has come up with this new learning methodology. Source: Economic Times

HEALTHCARE EDUCATION SEATS ADDED TO PRINCE GEORGE SCHOOL

Prince George's premier trade school is going to expand on its healthcare programming with a little help from the B.C. government. Thanks to $150,000 in funding, the province is helping the College of New Caledonia (CNC) create 14 additional seats for 14 more prospective students to become healthcare assistants with the hopes of improving care for seniors long-term. CNC is one of 14 post-secondary schools the Ministries of Health and Advanced Education have eyed for today's announcement, fittingly with B.C. declaring Oct. 18 as Healthcare Assistant Day, as the local program takes about 10 months to become certified care aides... Source: Prince George Matters

What To Do If You're Feeling Tired, Burnt Out, Or Stressed While Studying

- Set a timer for twenty minutes
- Put on some music. Just make sure it's not the same music you were listening to while studying.
- Get up and drink two glasses of water, or refill your water bottle
- Get a healthy snack, don't just wolf down some candy or junk food. Have some fruit, veggies, nuts, etc.
- Organize your area. Put away papers you aren't using, throw out trash.
- Write down a specific list of what you need to finish studying. Be realistic and concise.
- Take a deep breath, remember that it's all going to be ok, and get back to work.

Is depression common in students? -Anonymous

Hi Anonymous,

Though we all have those sad moments in our lives, Depression is a serious illness which requires love, care and support of people around you. Depression is mostly defined as the feeling of helplessness, hopelessness and worthlessness which doesn't go away for days / weeks. As days pass the feelings go strong and people do tend to become suicidal. The fact is that not just students, but even their teachers get affected with Depression, According to WHO estimates that more than 300 million people worldwide suffer from depression. It's also the world's leading cause of disability, startling right!

For people who suffer from Depression, its time to change your routine, enjoy a physical activity and keep yourself involved in things which will help you uplift your mood Make achievable goals which will make you feel good about yourself and slowly start expanding your horizons, Eat healthy and don't overeat. It is often said that a healthy diet will help you keep yourself in control and make you feel good about yourself. Most importantly get enough sleep. Life can be unfair sometimes, but it doesn't mean that you have to be hard on yourself. Peer pressure, anxiety, are some conditions which we all face in our lives, hence just stay cool and enjoy every moment as it comes.
